

EOI - NURSE PRACTITIONER ACCREDITATION COMMITTEE

Nurse Practitioner Accreditation Committee Member Required

The Australian Nursing and Midwifery Accreditation Council (ANMAC) is the independent accrediting authority for nursing and midwifery education under Australia's National Registration and Accreditation Scheme. ANMAC helps to protect the health and safety of the Australian community by establishing high-quality standards of nursing and midwifery education, training and assessment. ANMAC is responsible for facilitating the development of content for accreditation standards in consultation with our stakeholders and representatives from the professions. ANMAC is also responsible for determining whether programs of study for nurses and midwives seeking to practise in Australia meet the required accreditation standards.

ANMAC Accreditation Committees have a key role in the governance structure for the accreditation function. Their purpose is to review the outcomes of assessments undertaken by ANMAC assessment teams in relation to determining whether programs of study for nurses and midwives seeking to practise in Australia meet the required accreditation standards.

Members of the Nurse Practitioner Accreditation Committee include nurse practitioner academics and clinical leaders from across Australia. The committee usually meets bimonthly via video conference. Occasional face-to-face meetings are held in Canberra. Travel costs and sitting fees are covered for the face-to-face meetings. ANMAC will provide support, induction, and training for new committee members.
